YESTERDAY, information was received by telegram of the death of Mr Albert Deacon, a former resident of Canton and at the time of his death a member of the Consulting Committee of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation.

A MISSIONARY, who has had long experience of the Chinaman's ways from the north—“The war is going on apace. The Chinese are sending hosts of men to the front, but it is of no use apparently. The Japs are well ordered and organised, and seem destined to carry everything before them.”

It is stated by Japanese vernacular papers that the German Consul of Nagasaki is in negotiation with Russian officials regarding the collision which recently occurred between a Russian man-of-war and the German steamer Brama.

The two Russian torpedo boats, Hokka and Sasebo (says the Egyptian Gazette, Dec. 27) have made the fastest passage on record through the Suez Canal. They left Port Said on Monday at 7.10 a.m., and arrived at Suez at 4 o'clock the same afternoon, being detained one hour at Ismailia, thus accomplishing the whole distance—in about 8 hours.

The Cavalry and Infantry of the Japanese Imperial Bodyguard have lately been practising forced marches, and have come through the tests remarkably well. The former covered a distance of 70 miles in 22 hours in full marching trim, and the latter marched an average of about 25 miles a day on three days in succession; the third day they did 38 miles in seven hours. The Guards are burning with impatience for active service.

SECOND place in the Bimetallic League's competition for Sir H. Mayoy Thompson's prize of twenty-five guineas for the best essay on bimetallic principles was taken by Mr H. B. Fox of Yokohama. Mr Jamieson, H. B. M. Consul at Shanghai, it will be remembered was the actual winner. His essay has been already published, and Mr Fox's is soon to follow.

According to the Hyogo News, nearly every steamer from China brings back Chinese merchants to Japan, and the temporary monopoly of trade by Japanese is once more threatened by them. Owing to this circumstance the Japanese merchants are said to be hesitating about abolishing the system of commissions that they were in such a hurry to accomplish, and meanwhile their alliance to effect it is reported to be fast melting away.

The title given to the Chinese Embassy in native papers seems to vary according to their particular views. In one (says the Hyogo News) we find the phrase Peace Negotiation Commissioner, in another Peace-suing Embassy, and in a third Capitulation Messenger. Therefore, according to the last journal, Mr Foster is described as the Capitulation Councillor. It is rumoured that Count Ito Viscount Matsu and Lieutenant-General Kawakami will be authorised to represent Japan in the peace-negotiations.

Mr Foster's personality continues to excite much interest among Japanese journals, which apparently have reporters detailed to watch all his movements, and a walk on the Bund is gravely chronicled as of international importance. One of the papers, by the way, affirms that he is charmed with Kobe, and has expressed a wish to live here many years. He is being closely guarded by three Japanese police officers in plain clothes, who follow him at a little distance when he leaves the Hotel, presumably to prevent any excited Jingo from offering violence to the American adviser of the Chinese peace envoys. We do not think there is much fear of anything of the sort happening, but it is nevertheless a fact that every precaution should be taken.—Kobe Chronicle.

The Jiji Shimbun has an article on the terms of peace, which it may be found interesting to summarise as giving some idea of the sort of conditions which, in the opinion of one of the leading journals of the capital, should be imposed on China. Our contemporary commences by saying that though it is premature to speculate on what are the actual terms to which the Chinese envoys are empowered to agree, it may be assumed that whatever terms this country adopts as its ultimatum, the embassy will, like a trader, offer something less. The Jiji then proceeds to examine what are the lowest terms to which Japan can agree. In the first place, the offer of China to recognise the independence of Korea should be allowed to form no part of the terms. That is a recognition to which Japan is entitled by right. Conditions which should be insisted upon as imperative are:—

1st.—To pay to Japan the actual expenditure incurred in the war.

2nd.—To reimburse Japan for the loss and damage sustained to her industrial development.

3rd.—To apologise to Japan for having entered on the present conflict without reasonable cause.

NEW Comic Song and Dance Albums, at W. Robinson and Company.

While teaching a class of girls in a school recently, the master asked the following question:—“What was Noah supposed to be doing when the animals were going into the Ark?” He received several answers. At last a little girl put her hand up. “Well,” he said, “what do you say?” “Take the Ark into the Ark!”

INTERNATIONAL HOCKEY.

ENGLAND v. SCOTLAND.

Yesterday, a hockey match was played at the Happy Valley between teams representing England and Scotland. The teams were as follows:—

England.—Goal—G. H. Stewart. Backs—E. Robinson, H. T. D. de Vitre, & Backs—P. B. Molsworth, R. E. G. H. Millward, Rev. R. E. Cobbold. Forwards—O. M. Firth, E. A. Ram, Rev. C. R. Hughes, J. Hooper, P. B. Sheldon.

Scotland.—Goal—H. Ogilvie. Backs—E. W. Maitland, F. Maitland, & Backs—J. Cameron, E. R. Burdon, Capt. Stewart, R. E. Forwards—D. Landale, G. D. Campbell, P. G. Anderson, D. K. Sliman, A. S. Anton.

Ram and Sliman ‘bullied’ off and play was at once entered upon with vigour.

The ball travelled quickly about the field, till the sides were brought up, ‘sticks’ having been given against Millward. A corner then fell to Scotland, Campbell sending the ball into play without result. The Englishmen got smartly upon the ball, and a splendid centre by Firth enabled Ram to notch the first point for England.

This was followed by another finely combined effort by the Scots, with a goal.

Cobbold (Mr Firth) and Firth (Boy) ‘powed’ a mile. I missed the ball, but our clock registered it at 30, 1.0, 1.31, 2.23; another, probably as reliable, at 2.21.

Forwards best Velligeur and Verdict in a gallop over the German Cup Course in 2 mins. 58 seconds.

2.28, 3.07, 3.33. He finished in very good style, and should have a good look in on the 20th.

Hobart (Mr Taylor) was easily disposed of by ‘Rainbow’ ridden by a boy. The chestnut is a good pony, and will be there or thereabouts on the day. His time was 35, 1.09, 1.44, 2.20, 2.56, 3.31—a very good performance.

Sinclair (Mr Master) had a solitary journey for the first 1½ miles of a 2-mile gallop.

He was then joined by something and finished in fair form; full time, 4.84.

Cobbold (Mr Hart Buck) covered the same distance in 4.49, finishing strong.

Premier (Mr Manners) and Order (Boy) ‘powed’ a mile. I missed the ball, but our clock registered it at 30, 1.0, 1.31, 2.23; another, probably as reliable, at 2.21.

Forwards best Velligeur and Verdict in a gallop over the German Cup Course in 2 mins. 58 seconds.

FRAGRANT WATERS' MURMUR.

That the event which by many is looked upon as the culminating point in the China-Japan war—viz., the fall of Wei-hai-wei—appears to have occurred, or is certainly occurring.

That there seems to be little doubt the Japanese will succeed here as they have done elsewhere, although they may have more trouble over the capture than at Port Arthur.

That the Europeans apparently have not left Wei-hai-wei, although Reuter told me they had, and this may furnish ground for anticipating more fighting and less ‘skodaddling’.

That, on the other hand, if the Japanese offered generous terms to the Europeans, I don't know who would blame those mercenary gentlemen for retiring gracefully, if they could.

That I see you informed us a day or two ago of this inimiceness of active operations at Wei-hai-wei, culminating from the time when the landing of the troops was completed, and, although the Japs cannot be accused of over-haste, some of the eastern forts of the great stronghold must have been in their hands on Thursday.

That I see your native correspondent tells us of the land forts are in the hands of the Japs, but that the strongly-fortified island and the Peiyang fleet are still un-captured.

That the reported sinking of one or two Japanese torpedoes, if true, would indicate the presence of the European element; and I honestly entertain the gravest fears for the safety of any European caught in action.

That I have heard it again and again asserted that peace will be concluded before the end of next month, and I fancy all parties will be glad to see the end of this business.

That the results will roll into the history of the Far East for many years to come, and he would be a bold man who would predict any specific drift of events.

That so long as Great Britain and Russia adopt a common policy, the course of events need cause little anxiety to those interested in Foreign commerce.

That many Europeans in Japan dread the effect of the recent successes upon the Japanese people, but the marvellous good-sense shown by the officials who are guiding and directing affairs in Japan is to my mind a sufficient guarantee of the future attitude of Japan.

That the Pantomime or Extravaganza of Robinson Course has furnished much food for conversation during this week, and the members of the A. D. C. must be flattered, annoyed or may be indignant as the opinion varies.

That I have seen most of the A. D. C. work for the last twenty years, and confess to a feeling of surprise that anything else should have been expected from ‘Robinson Course’ (adapted) as was got.

That it is a curious fact, nevertheless, that some commendable feature in the pantomimes of previous years is invariably found to be absent from a new show.

That it may be accepted the shows of this kind bear a strong family likeness, as do the Gilbert and Sullivan operas, but it does not follow that one may not be as pleasant a recreative element as the other.

That I have heard the warmest praises of the Pantomime from the residents who have driven quite recently.

That this may argue the monotony of the Pantomime form of representation, and perhaps the A. D. C. would do well to try comic opera for a change.

That the report of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank has often been taken as a criterion of the prosperity of the Colony, and things must be looking healthier all round if we look upon last half-year as any sort of guide.

That in the absence of Mr Arnold, the accounts have been audited by Mr Thos. L. Rose.

Mr Thomas Arnold offers himself for re-election as Auditor.

JARDINE, MATHESON & CO., General Managers, Hongkong, 28th January, 1895.

That I hear the hon. the Attorney General aspires to the Acting Chief-Judicature, when Mr Ackroyd leaves the Colony. That this step is quite within the rights of the leader of the bar, but it will be there or thereabouts on the day.

That the puzzling and almost incomprehensible division of salaries, half of this and half of that, laid down with strictest rigidity, will become more puzzling than ever.

That to the unofficial mind it seems rather incongruous both Judges should be absent at the same time, but then the unofficial mind is ignorant and unscientific.

That a wild rumour is current to the effect that the three head officers of our Police Force entertain the idea of going Home by the same steamer!

That more charges are pending, and the veteran Colonial Surgeon mediates taking a much-needed furlough.

That I have been asked why the Peak Flagstaff is not yet set up, and can only reply that, looking on such things from an unofficial standpoint, it is impossible to tell.

That it has been alleged—but it is difficult to verify these assertions—it required two Government Departments and one large and enterprising Dock Company to get the business set a going.

That the Dock Company was presumably all right, and so was the flagstaff, but the Departments clashed somewhat.

That it is confidently expected the signalling will be in complete order before the next typhoon season!

That another puzzle has been submitted to me—why the drain below Glensiskin has been running into the Caine road along a thing like a corn-shoot for the last four months?

That I give it up.

THE CHINA-JAPAN WAR.

THE ATTACK ON WEIHAIWEI.

NEWS FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

PONDENT.

CHINESE FLEET ATTEMPTS TO ESCAPE.

LANDWARD FORTS ATTACKED IN TURN.

(From Our Special War Correspondent.)

WEIHAIWEI, via Hiogo, January 30.

The advance guard of the Japanese Third Army Corps landed at Yungching, on the south-eastern side of the Shantung Peninsula, and made a forced-march on Wei-hai-wei. The forts on the eastern side of the Bay were attacked at daylight to-day (Wednesday). After some fighting, the Japanese succeeded in getting possession of all the eastern forts by two o'clock in the afternoon.

The Chinese war vessels have made an attempt to escape from the anchorage, but this attempt was frustrated by the heavy fire the Japanese were able to turn upon them.

The forts on the western side of the Bay, about ten miles from here, have not yet been attacked.

PROPERTY IN HONGKONG.

Commenting on the reports of the Hongkong Land Investment and West Point Building Companies, the Scots' Times says:

“These figures and these results produced in a period of great depression, appear very satisfactory and encouraging. It must be remembered that, for five or six months, many of both Companies' tenants had deserted their houses; for when the general exodus took place, half the population of the most crowded districts left for the mainland, and remained there until August or September. As against that loss, there is to be set the gain to the Companies—both are under the same management—by the letting of a lot of their new houses in the Western district to the Government for the reception of those evicted from plague-infested tenements. The accounts do not show whether there has been a gain or a loss in this respect on previous years, but if there has not actually been a gain, the probable loss has been considerably reduced. The Company had several model terraces in various localities which had been standing empty from their erection, and which looked very like white elephants. They are now occupied by Chinese of the poorest class, and the Government having decided upon a thorough enforcement of sanitary habits of living, it is improbable that the human wrecks of Tsinping, from which these tenants came, will ever again exist. When the closed area is destroyed, and on its site rise new and improved edifices; when broad streets are laid out and narrow pestiferous alleys demolished, the town must broaden and expand. New houses will have to be built to accommodate the thousands who, by the new Health Ordinance, will not be able to find the required space of fresh air except under the skins. With mezzanine floors abolished, unlighted and dark cellars closed to human habitation, and severe restrictions against every form of over-crowding, large building operations in Hongkong will become an absolute necessity.

In the absence of Mr Arnold, the accounts have been audited by Mr Thos. L. Rose.

Mr Thomas Arnold offers himself for re-election as Auditor.

SIR WALTER SCOTT IN THE LIGHTER VEIN.

The Rev. A. Irving Robertson, B.D., Clackmannan, a relative of the recipient of the following letter, writes in the January issue of Life and Work, the monthly organ of the Church of Scotland:—

The subjoined letter and lines have been in possession of the family of General Stewart since his death in 1829. Out of respect for the wish expressed in the postscript they have hitherto refrained from allowing them to appear in print. As the diary of Sir Walter has now been published, containing matters of more delicate personal import than anything in this letter, the obligation to keep the latter private seems no longer binding. The friend to whom Scott addressed it was a Highlander highly esteemed in his day. Born at Garth, in the county of Ayr, he joined the 22nd Regiment, till his retirement in 1815. General Stewart's life was spent in constant military service. The lines are understood to have been written in reply to a joking request for a verse or two signed by the author as a friendly souvenir:—

"My dear General Stewart—I am favoured with your letter. I rejoice in your appointment since it holds out to you the means of obtaining some of the good things of this life, which cannot be lodged in kinder or more generous hands. I am quite sure you are of all colours and complexions, will find in you a paternal ruler. You would not have left Scotland without seeing me if I had heard of the party who took a festive farewell of you in Auld Reekie. I think some of them might have put it in my opinion to come to town, and considered that a rebus like me does not always see newspapers, where, I suppose, the purpose was duly announced. But I look forward with great pleasure to the meeting you once more among high bonnets and brave fellows with the 'hail, nish, nish,' which I have so often joined you in. Pray tell me by what convenience you sent Pitfoddy's manuscript, which promises most valuable information. If it is not very large, Sir Francis Freeling will forward it if you put it in the Post Office with an inner cover addressed to me. It is not the first kindling which I have received from your excellent friend, and I value his kindness as it ought to be valued. A letter came enclosed to me which I return, it being obviously designed for some other friend. I would forward it, but there is no address. I suppose you will see the Lockharts before you go away; both of them hold in high honour and regard. And now, my dear General, to know that you have the power of doing good is to know that you are well and happy. I send a list of subscriptions on the other side. It is vain in me, perhaps, even to comply with a request so flattering, but you ask it, and whether in joke or in earnest, your request must be obeyed.—Almost most truly yours,

WALTER SCOTT.

Call this vile stuff—I reck it not—

So thero'd an end of Walter Scott.

Pray don't let the papers get hold of this off hand nonsense, and now adie once more, and "up with the bonnie blue bonnets, the dirk, and the feather, &c."

THE HISTORY OF A SCAR.

On the back of my right hand—just about the middle of it—there is a scar, like a big wavy line, perhaps. You would never notice it unless I showed it to you, and even then you would have to look sharp to see it. But it's there, all the same, and will be until the hand is returned to dust. It dates back forty years, that scar does. Going home from school one day another boy and I quarrelled and fought. Strange to say, it wasn't about a girl either. Anyway, he drew his jack-knife and stabbed me in the back of the right hand. The wound, I remember, was slow to heal. It was sore and inflamed for months, and hardly a day but something hit it, or I knocked it against something, and so made it worse. My whole body appeared to be corporated in that scar. You know what I mean, I suppose. They are like boils, and if there is any comfort, it is that a boil, if there are loads of money waiting for the fellow who diagnoses it.

lately we have received two letters, both containing an identical expression, namely, this:—
"Everything seemed a trouble to me." Now, none of us are so tough as to be proof against a trouble, but when everything is a trouble to a man the very heart inside of him must be tender and touchy. And, Mercy knows, it is so often enough. Grief will do it, worry will do it, and illness too.

One of these letters, or at least the writer of it, goes on to say:— "It was in March, 1869, that I felt tired and languid, and without my usual energy. Before that I had always been strong and active. Now I was low-spirited and melancholy, everything seemed a trouble to me. At first I had a pain in the mouth, a poor appetite, and all sorts gave me great pain in the chest and sides. Even fish and poultry gave me as much distress as most solid food. I was constantly spitting up a sour, acid fluid which caused a miserable feeling in my throat and mouth."

After I had been for some time in this condition I was attacked with gout in my hands and feet, which confined me to the house now and again for a week or two at a time. The parts became inflamed and swollen, and gave me excruciating agony. I could not bear anything to touch them. For four years I was subject to these attacks. The doctor who attended me was able to ease me temporarily, but I was as bad as ever.

In the middle of April, 1868, I read that some like mine had been cured by Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and I thought I would try it. I had a bottle of it, but half a bottle was all I felt relieved. This encouraged me to keep on with the Syrup, and in a comparatively short time all symptoms of the disease left me. Since then I have enjoyed excellent health, and whenever I feel a twinge of my old enemy a glass or two of Mother Seigel's soon sets me right. Yours truly, (Signed) M. LEAHY, 49, Grosvenor Terrace, Grosvenor Park, Cambridge, London, September 22nd, 1892.'

So much for the facts as Mr. Leahy tells them. What has science to offer in explanation of them? Gout, rheumatism, and biliousness are three complaints arising indirectly from an overworked liver, or, more properly, from indigestion and dyspepsia. The poisons so engendered may lie hidden and unfit for a long time, and then be suddenly rendered active by mental worry, exposure, over-eating, over-drinking, or a dozen other causes. The cure of a dozen of these causes, the next must be obeyed.—Almost most truly yours,

WALTER SCOTT.
